This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

HAVING for some years contemplated writing a History of the Hundred of North Erpingham, I have long been much exercised in my mind how to set about my work.

The difficulty of digesting a mass of MS. material, so that all of it will fall into its right place, and each fact will illustrate other parts of the book, is enormous. Frequently, a topographer, who in the early part of his work has deduced, quite to his own satisfaction, the descent of a manor or a family, or has fixed the date of a church, finds, to his vexation when he gets further on, that he has had, all the while, hidden away among his collections for another place, material which would have enabled him to correct his views. It is impossible, when one's MSS. cover thousands of unindexed pages, to remember what one has and what one has not.

I have, therefore, ventured on a new departure in topography, and that is to print and index all my material first, just as it comes to hand; and then hope to begin to write my history under parishes. As the following pages are, therefore, really for my own use, I have printed a short number only, and as cheaply as possible; but I have thought it best to print at once: for should I never live to accomplish my task, I shall, at all events, have put the rough material into other men's hands in an accessible form.

The present part consists, it will be seen (i.a.), of Kemp's Church Notes, mostly of heraldry, and of Le Neve's Collections for the Hundred.*

I have pointed out elsewhere (Index to Norf. Topography, Introduction, x) that Le Neve found nearly all the material for Blomefield's History of Norfolk, and that Blomefield died before he had used more than a small proportion of it. Those who continued his work did not avail themselves, at all events as far as North Erpingham is concerned, of Le Neve's Collections, which are now printed for the first time, and alone vastly exceed in bulk "Blomefield's" account of the Hundred; which, indeed, would hardly fill one-third of the present Part.

Of my own work, I have printed copies of all the known Aids and Returns of Knights' Fees for the Hundred, and of all the Inscriptions in its Churches and Churchyards: in all, about 2509. I think this is the first time that any one has transcribed and printed the whole of the Inscriptions of a large Hundred; but hope it will not be the last.† The importance of preserving copies of monuments at once, cannot be over-estimated in these days of so-called church

* My readers must pardon the numerous mistakes in this part of the work, for the proofs were sent me during the busiest time of a London lawyer's year, and were scarcely looked at; though they shall be corrected before I write my history. The inscriptions have been very carefully checked with my original notes.

† With the kind assistance of the Rev. H. T. Griffith of Smallburgh, and the Rev. F. Procter of Witton, I have, this autumn, nearly done Tunstead; while Mr. W. N. Dew is hard at work at Holt. Both will probably be printed off in a few months.

restoration.* Especially, I think, the churchyard inscriptions should be copied, for they are liable to get weather-worn; and they contain the records of what one may call the little aristocracy of the village: farmers and yeoman, whose relations are well-to-do enough to pay for a tombstone (a luxury to which the actual field labourer seldom aspires), and from whom, in two or three generations, often come the new gentry.

I greatly regret that I have been unable to add to my own collection copies of the Inscriptions made by my old correspondent, the late Rev. J. Bulwer of Hunworth, which were made before any restorations, and no doubt (see Cromer, p. 272) contain many now lost. Had he been alive, no one would have been more glad than he to have seen them printed; but my applications to his representative must have miscarried, for I have not even received a reply to them.

* * * * * *

My next part will contain another new feature, viz., copies of all the Subsidy Rolls, and short notes of all the Feet of Fines relating to the Hundred. If it can possibly be managed, I shall add a list of all the Wills of the Early Inhabitants, from the Norwich and London Registries.

From this material, when indexed, I hope I may be able to compile a portion of a County History more perfect, in some respects, than has hitherto been attempted; and especially in tracing the pedigrees of the labourers and small yeomen, whose families will, I believe, be found to be the oldest in their respective localities.

Such pedigrees, going back in some cases six and seven hundred years, will, to my mind, be quite as interesting as those of rich Norwich or London merchants, who have bought a manor and a coat of arms simultaneously. And I am induced to think that a close and exhaustive investigation of obscure tombstones and subsidy rolls will enable me, in several cases, to expose some fictitious pedigrees, by supplying, beyond a doubt, the real but more humble descent of their bearers.

Molis, Nich. Moeles, Roger. Norff. Gresham, or.

This family, besides this manor in Norffolk, had most of their possessions in the west country, and in particular had the maner and advouson of King's Carewell in Devonshire, which was given to Nicolas de Molis, father of Roger de Molis, in the time of King John, and Roger brought his action against the Dean and Canons of Excester to present a parson to that church in the 54th year of King Henry III., showing his title as above; to which the Dean and Chapter answer that the church was full as appropriate to them. Roger answers that Thomas de Periers, the last parson, only demised the Rectory for his life to his vnkle, then a Canon, and after Dean of Exon, and the Canons; but the Dean and Canons being askt, I suppose, by the Court whether they would what they alleged, answered that it belonged to the Bishop to inquire whether the church was vacant. Being askt if they had any deed to prove their title and possession, they answered, none, but their long possession ought to be sufficient title to satisfie the Court. Roger de Moles answered that vnless they could show some title in law for their possession and patronage, especially when they claimd it as appropriate, it ought not to avail them, and might rather be called intrusion then possession, for he could prove that Henry le Fitz Count, then lord of the mannour, presented in the then present King's time long within 80 years. The Dean, &c., afterwards pleaded that William, formerly Bishop of Exeter, appropriated the church to them by deed, which they produced, so the cause was adjourned.—Placita Jur' et Assis', Devon, 54th Henry III. I am sorry you shoud be disappointed by the Bonds not being with Mr. Heriot as I had promis'd, but the neighbour by whom I design'd to have sent it, went for London 4 days before the time he told me of. However, Sir, that shall be noe prejudice to you upon any account, but I was not willing to send the Bond by the post and therefore lodg'd it in a ffriend's hand at Norwich in order to be sent by some private hand, which tho' he has not yett, I hope he will meet with by to-morrow's coach, but least that shou'd fail I have as you desired drawn to Mr. Heriot a Bill upon you for 121*li.*, which I thinke is exactly the principal being 100*li.* and three years and a halfe's lawfull interest due thereupon, but if there be any mistake when you see the Bond it shall be willingly rectify'd. I have more occasion at present for the money at London than here, and shall therefore thinke my selfe oblig'd to you if you please to pay it to Mr. Heriot for the use of, Sir,

Yr. humble servant,

H. Harbord.

I have all this while attended in hopes of an opportunity of waiting upon you at Witchingham, but the approach of the Winter making me presume you'l hardly leave the town this year, I think my selfe oblig'd to trouble you with this, to inform you that my occasions for money being very pressing at this juncture I must beg of you to take some order for the payment of your late Brother's Bond which I finde he seald to my late uncle, Coll. Harbord for 100*li.*, and as I have always occasion for money in London, desire if it suits your convenience that you'd pay it to Mr. Harbord Heriot, Goldsmith, at the "Naked Boy," in Fleet Street, with whom I will lodge the Bond, to be deliver'd you upon paymint of the money for the use of,

Sir,

Yr. humble servant,

Fol. 183. 10ber the 27th, 1712.

Sir,

By a letter some time since from Mr. Heriot I was inform'd that you had some thoughts of paying him 100*li.* upon my account, but hearing nothing of it from him lately must take the freedom to remind you of it by this, which I shou'd not, however, have now done but that my occasions caus'd by some late losses and disappointments, are more than ordinaryly pressing at this juncture, and tho' indeed present payment wou'd be a very great kindnesse, yett being rather willing to bear some inconvenience than give much trouble to anyone, I must lett you know I shall depend upon your paying the money and clearing the Bond sometime betwixt this and our Lady day next, for I can't imagine you shou'd thinke it reasonable to expect any longer forbearance from,

Sir,

Your humble servant,

H. Harbord.

Fol. 66.

Worthy Sir,

Having receiv'd yours I resolv'd (as I was infinitely oblig'd) to returne by the first my hearty thankes, but being prevented by that hurry which my Businesse depending necessarily engag'd me in, I was forc'd to neglect it, and I do now hope you will excuse that neglect and assure your selfe that your readiness and service was as kindly taken as intended; and that I am very sensible that your appearance in my behalfe was of great use as well as credit; and as I am by your means vicar of Roughton, I am by the same means oblig'd to shew and professe my selfe

Your most oblig'd humble Servant
Jos. Hogan.

To Peter Le Neve, Esq., Norroy, at the College of Armes, London.

Fol. 67.

Worthy Sir,

From the little Acquaintance I have the Honor to have with you, and from your readinesse to serve others I am encourag'd to aske a favor of you my selfe. The Vicaridge of Roughton (near Hanworth which is my native place) being now vacant my requeste is that you wold use your utmost endeavors with the Bishop of Ely, who is patron, to favor me with the next presentation—what makes me so fond of the small tyths of the little parish is because I am assur'd of the great ones which are a lease from his Lordship, in the hands of the late Incumbent, who on his deathbed desir'd I shold have them and accordingly his wife (who is his Executrix) has promised I shall. Thes together will for one parish make a tollerable good one, but if parted they will neither of them be worth much. Another reason is because it is amongst my freinds from whom I have greater expectations. All which being consider'd by his Lordship and your selfe (both Men of Generosity and Kindnesse) will effectually make happy in his wishes,

Your very humble Servant,
N. Elmham, Jos. Hogan.
Jan. 4, 1719-20.

I have several Freinds who will apply to my Lord on whom I wold have waited my selfe but that at the time of the late Incumbent's death I was much indispos'd with an Ague—pray direct for me to be left at Mr. William Verdon's, Wigg-maker, near St. Giles's Church, Norwich.

[Endorsed:—] Hogan, Vicar of Rowton, 4 Jan. 1719-20.

Good Sir,

I have sent you a few Lobsters, but not to prevent your coming to see me, but as an instance of that respect and gratitude, I thinke due to your selfe and Lady; and I hope the goodnesse of these will envite you to partake of some that remaine behind: I shall be glad to wait upon you at Roughton when ever you please to appoint, and accept of such convenience as my present state affords; I shold be glad to know, whether the Garter be not Brother or near Relation to Dr. Anstis, late Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. Tho' I suppose Baningham is dispos'd of by this time, and if not to us, I shall be glad if to Dr. Tanner (whose interest I could have had for asking), but be it as it will, it may in effect, in some measure answer the purpose of Registr. de Hulmo, fol. 6[b]. This rectory is in the King's books 9*li.* 6*sh.* 8*d.*, tenths 18-8*d.*, the Abbott of St. Benedict patron formerly; since the dissolution, the Bishop of Norwich patron. See, for severall presentations by the abbot in the register of that abbey sparsim. The abbot's portion of tiths here or pencon was 2 marcks. In the time of Walter, Bishop of Norwich, one Edgiva Swanehals, a Saxon wodman before the conquest, gave this town to the Abbot of St. Bennett's.

Ibm' fol. 33. William, Abbot of Hulmo, gave to Richard fitz Osbert, son of Griffin of Tweyt, all the land of the abbey in Pastone, and the Manor of Thurgarton in fee, paying 16*li.* with church and all tiths, which deed was after surrendred to the abbot.

Registr. de Hulmo, fol. 43, fol. 58. In the 7th year of King John a fine was levyed between Ralf, Abbot of St. Bennet, petent, Eustace Fitz John, tenent, of the whole land of Thurgarton, who released to the abbot, and he regranted to Eustace all the land which Cecilie, the grandmother of John, held of the abbot by 5 shill. rent, and Robt. Curzun released his claim to to the abbot at the same time, no other person claiming any thing therein.

In the 3rd year of King Hen. III. a fine was levyed between Ralf de Tweyt, Peter the Abbot of St. Bennet's, tenent of this mannor, whereby Ralf releaseth to the abbot all his right in this mannor for 15 marks of silver.

Rotul. Inquis. In the Inquisitions temp. Edwardi I[mi] the jury present that the Abbott of St. Benedict de Hulmo held a mannor in capite belonging to his baronye, and in the 3rd of Henry IV. the jury present the same with the homage in Shipden, alias Cromere.

Registr. de Hulmo, fol. 66, 133. In the 19th Hen. III. Sir Peter de Alto Bosco released to the abbot all his right in this mannor.

R. ut warr'o 14th Edw. I. In the 14th of King Edward I. the abbot acknowledged the King had view of frank pleg and assise of bread and beer here.

Nomina Villar'. In the 9th Edw. II. the Abbot of St. Bennett's was lord here, with whom it continued all along till the dissolution, and it enjoyed the priviledges belonging to that abbey which you may see in my discourse thereof, and was amongst the other mannors settled on the Bishop of Norwich, parcell of whose revenue it still is. In King James the First's time here was a dispute about right of comon between this and the next adjoyning, which is reported by the Lord Chief Justice Coke in his 8th Report, fol. 66 and 9. Report, Edward Crogate's case.

Registr. de Hulmo, fol. 96. By a Taxacon of the mannors of Abbot of St. Bennet's, made by Walter, Bishop of Norwich, the rents of assis here were valewed at 7-17-6 qr., 5 acres of arrable, 41 sol' 6*d*., 2 acres of meadows 16 dem, and in the same register, fol. 122 b, is an account of the customarye tenants of this mannor and their services.

Fol. 46.

Thurgarton, Trestan, Suff. from Trea, Saxon godess, Treston. Perhaps derived from the old Saxon God Thor, who was reverenced as Jupiter. See Vorstegan and those towns which begin with Sat from Seater, these with Wodn. see the other Saxon gods, Quere if this rule holds, as [it] is the opinion of Dr. Fairfax in his Suffolk MSS. penes me et Mr. Thoresby in his Leeds pag.

Turgarton. There was a house and 2 acres of land in Bassingham in comit' Norffolc' which was parcell of the mannor of Thurgarton in the same county, and demised and demisable, &c., by a coppy, &c., in the fee simple, &c., according to the custome of the mannor, of which mannor of Thurgarton William, then late Bishop of Norwich, was seized in fee in right of his bishoprick, prescribed to have common of pasture for him and all his customary tenants of the said house, and 2 acres of land in a great piece of pasture called Bassingham Common, pro omnibus averiis, &c., omni tempore anni, &c., and the said bishop at such a court, &c., granted the said house and 2 acres by copy to one Wm. Marys, to him and his heirs, &c.—Vide Coke's 8 Reports, Crogat's case, 556. Vide also Coke's 9 Reports, 693.

TRIMINGHAM.

Trymingham. In the 12th of Edward II. a fine was levyed whereby John de Warren, Earle of Surrey, settled on Thomas, Earle of Lancaster, this advouson of Thrymingham with the Hundreds of Gallow and Brothercross as there at large, the mannors of Gymingham and others; from this time, therefore, it became parcell of the Honor of Lancaster.—Fines, Norff., Edw. The jury find in his favour. As to Audeburgh fair he alleges user from time immemorial, but produces no evidence, so agrees to pay 12*d.* a year for it, which is taken by consent.

William de Valence appears by his attorney and says that Matlask, Bernyngham, Plumsted, and Mauteby are members of his manors of Saxthorp and Stivekeye, and that they were confirmed to him in 36th Hen. III. by charter.

Henry le Noble, formerly seneschal of Earl Warenn, is mentioned.

Mem. 52 d.

The jury present that Julian de Gunnegate gave a certain piece of his land in Tunbernyngham to his son Roger, and charged him to pay (in respect thereof) 1*d.* per year to the Hospital of St. John of Keresbrok.

And afterwards the said Roger, &c., (a dispute as to scot and lot, as to which a venire facias issues against Roger and the master of the hospital.)

The jury present that King Richard used to receive a mark yearly from certain tenements in the towns of Northrepps, Plumsted, Matelask, and Antyngham, and assigned it to God and the Abbey of St. Edmund to find a proper wax candle to burn before the shrine of St. Edmund, and the jury find that it is still kept burning.

Presentments that Henry de Grey holds the manor of Shyringham in capite of the king by the service of 12*d.* yearly.

That Hubert de Burgo held the manors of Beeston and Runton, paying therefore 20*s.* to the castle guard of Dover; and that William de Warenn and Matilda his wife now hold the said manors in capite of the king by the same services.

Of liberties, they find that John de Warenn, Earl of Surrey, claims wreck wherever his lands in the soke of Gimmingham are next the shore; and also gallows, view of frankpledge, assize of bread and ale, and free warren in the same soke, and also market in each week on Saturdays in his manor of Trunch.

That Henry de Grey claims wreck on his lands at Shyringham, and gallows, view of frankpledge, assize of bread and ale, and market on Thursdays in the same place.

That William de Warenn claims wreck in Beston and Runton, and view of frankpledge, assize of bread and ale, and free warren in same.

That Roger de Felebrugg claims wreck in the same towns, view of frankpledge, assize of bread and ale, and warren on his demesne lands.

That the prior of Beston claims the same liberties on his lands in the same towns.

That William Clement claims wreck on his lands and assize of bread and ale of his tenants in Runton.

That Hugh de Reymes claims wreck and free warren in Ouvestrend.

That Roger le Bygod, Earl of Norfolk, claims view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Haneworth.

That John de Melewode claims view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Guneton.

That Robert de Stotevile claims assize of bread and ale and free warren in Gresham.

That John de Eggemere claims view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale among his tenants in Shypeden.

That William (sic) de Felmyngham claims view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Bekham. "And they do not know by what warrant."

And Henry le (sic) Grey, Roger de Felebrigg, and Peter (sic) de Felmyngham, by the said Henry their attorney, come and say that their ancestors died seized of the said liberties. The jury find so. The king is to have a writ against them (however?) and William de Gyselham is directed to follow it up (?) (Et dictu' est Will'o de Gyselham qd' seq^{a}tur, &c.)

And the prior of Beston comes and says he found his priory seized of the said liberties. "Et jur', &c.," as before.

And John de Melewode, Robert de Stotevile, and John de Eggemere do not come. Therefore let their liberties be taken into the king's hands, &c.

And John de Warenn, Earl of Surrey, William de Warenn, and Roger le Bygod, answer as appears in the pleas of our lord the king of "Quo warranto." *

EXTRACTS FROM THE PLACITA DE QUO WARRENTO, EDW. I.

14th Edw. I. (1286.)

Roger Bygod in reply to the enquiry by what warrant he claimed view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Hanworth, Merton, Aldeburg, Suthstede, Gresham, Thurgarton, and Suthfield, [and warren, view of frankpledge, and assize of bread and ale in Coleby and Aldby:—]

Says as to Hanworth, that he and his ancestors had such liberties from time to which memory did not go, &c. The king's counsel says they always belonged to the crown, and is ready to verify his statement by the rolls of the Exchequer, and if not able to do so then to go to trial, and day was therefore given in octave of St. Hilary.

As to Suthfild, he claims that Suthfild is a member of Hanworth, and that he has the liberties by paying 35*d.* yearly to the king's bailiff of N. Erph.

As to liberties in Merton, Aldeburgh, Sustead, Gresham, and Thurgarton, claims that his uncle, Roger Bygod, died seized of them, so that if any of them were usurped they were so by his uncle and not of him, and gives up the claims, so they remain to the king.

Earl Warren in reply to the enquiry by what warrant he claimed warren, view of frankpledge, and assize of bread and ale in his soke of Gimmingham, claims that his ancestors had them from time, &c.

As to warren the king's counsel admits.

As to the rest, the latter says that Hy. III. held such liberties until one Hy. le Noble who was then Bailiff of N. Erpingham withdrew them, &c., and seeks an inquiry. Day given in octave of St. Hilary.

As to why he does not allow his villeins of the soke of Gimmingham to do service in the king's hundred, he admits that four men and the constable of each village throughout N. Erp. should come to the hundred court to hear the king's assize there, but says that his said men should not go there to render any service. King's council denies this, and a day is given in octave of St. Hilary.

Prior of Beeston in reply to the enquiry by what warrant he claimed view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Beston, says that Beeston was formerly of Margaret de Cressy, who had such liberties, and afterwards in free widowhood gave whatever she had in Beston to the said prior and his successors, and bound herself and her heirs to warrant to the said prior and brethren said tenements and liberties; and calls Wm. fil' Jn'o le Marescal her kinsman and heir to warrant. He is under age, so the question remains open till he is.

Wm. de Warenn and Johanna his wife in reply to enquiry by what warrant they claim view of frankpledge, assize of bread and ale, and wreck in Runton and Beeston, call to warrant Robt. de Veer, Earl of Oxford, and Alice his wife.

Roger Bygod de Felebreg in reply to enquiry by what warrant he claimed wreck, view of frankpledge, and assize of bread and ale in Runton and Beeston, claims that he and his ancestors held it from time, &c. It was tried in octave of St. Martin at Westmr. and his claim supported.

Jn'o Red in reply to enquiry by what warrant he claimed wreck of the sea, view of frankpledge, assize of bread and ale in Filebregge, claims that he and his ancestors held it from time, &c. And a day is given in octave of St. Hilary.

Jn'o de Egmere in reply to enquiry by what warrant he claimed view of frankpledge, &c., in Sypedene, claims that he and his ancestors held it from time, &c., and a day is given in octave of St. Hilary.

Abbot of St. Benet of Holme in reply to enquiry by what warrant he claimed view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Thurgarton and Antingham, comes and says that the king has seizin of such liberties, so they remain to the king.

Wm. de Warenn and Johanna his wife summoned as to doing a service to the hundred of North Erpingham. King's counsel says that king John was seized of said service, as from the manors of Beeston and Runton. Jurors, viz., Barthw. de Antingham, Rog' de Felbrigg, Hugh de Reymes, Jn'o de Bermingham, Ralph de Curzun, Edm. de Reppes, Robt. de Aula de Aylsham, Wm. de Bradenham, Rog' de Antingham, Wm. de Leveshaye, Robt. Herward, and Rog' Bakun, jr. Fined in favour of King.

Roger Bygod admits in answer to a quo warranto that he owes a service to the hundred for his manor of Suffeud.

Jn'o le Serjaunt of Suffield, Barthw. de Loverd, and Wm. Stermer, in reply to enquiry why they don't do service to the hundred:—

John says that he and one Roger Spyngholf, Wm. his brother, Wm. Elps, Ralph le Hunte, Jn'o fil' Reginald, Hugh his brother, Rich. Dove, Rog' fil' Regin' (under age), Nichs. fil' Nichs., Jn'o le In, Barthw. his brother (under age), Simon fil. Richd., Walter de Fleg, and Barthw. de Thorpgate, hold a tenement in Suthfeld, which, when held together, owed one service "de tribz septim' in tres septimanas" to hundred.

Barthw. says that he and Rog' le Lonerd, Wm. le L., Wm. fil' Robt., Jn'o and Tho. his brothers, Nichs. Sampines, Robt. Brond, Thos. Brond, Rog' Hulyn, Hy. Coke, Galfr' fil' Robt Herm', (under age) Rog' le Cupere, and Wm. fil' Margar' hold another such tenement.

Wm. says that he and Wm. fil' Thos., John and Barthw. his brothers, Matthew de Calthorp, Walter le Lynn, Thos. le Lynn, Jn'o le Lynn, Wm. Elys, Robt. Elys, Benerath, Pet. Godard, Beatrix de Brunstede, and Emma de Scothowe, hold another such a tenement.

Jn'o de Methelwode and Margery his wife in reply to enquiry by what right they claim view of frankpledge and assize of bread and ale in Gunton, claim that ancestors of Margery held them from time which, &c. Day given to octave of St. Hilary.

Robt. de Stutevill in reply to enquiry by what right he claims assize of bread and ale in Gresham, calls Jn'o de Warenn to warrant, who comes and says he and his ancestors held the manor of Gresham from time, &c., and that manor is a member of Castleacre. King's counsel states that king always had liberties till one Peter Braunche, temp. Henry III., occupied them. Tried: verdict for the earl.

BARNINGHAM NORTHWOOD.

The church, which is in a very bad state of repair, is an interesting one. There are very fine remains of a Decorated piscina and sedilia, and some good poppy-headed benches. On the floor is a curious decoration of tiles in the shape of a cart wheel about five feet in diameter. There is the north aisle only, with a piscina in the angle. The south window of nave has three lights and old tracery. The tower is square built of flint and battlemented.

In the Church are the following:—

29. Thos. Clarke d. 21 April 1817 in his 68th year.

CROMER.

The present church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, as originally constructed, consisted of a nave with two aisles, north and south porches with chambers, chancel with two chapels, and a tower; to which was added shortly afterwards a fine galilee, or west porch, and still more lately a third chapel at the north-east end of the chancel. Its style is throughout Early Perpendicular, and its material is flint, squared with great care, and the windows and buttresses are faced with carved stone-work. It stands in a churchyard now measuring about 300 feet by 225, but which formerly extended far more to the east, the foundations of the old boundary wall having been discovered in the yard of a house in Brookes Street. The churchyard, indeed, is said to have once contained four acres.

He married, in 1798, Cecilia, third daughter of the late Commodore Forrest, who erects this Monument in grateful and tender remembrance of him. During a period of twenty-six years, he distinguished himself in Parliament by his eloquence & talents, and was repeatedly called to the highest offices of the State, His views and councils were directed more to raising the glory than increasing the wealth of his country. He was, above all things, anxious to preserve, untainted, the National Character, and even those National Manners which long habit had associated with that character. As a statesman, he laboured to exalt the courage, to improve the comforts, and ennoble the profession of a soldier. As an individual, he exhibited a model of those qualities which denote the most accomplished and enlightened mind, frank, generous, unassuming, intrepid, compassionate, and pious. He was so highly respected, even by those from whom he most differed in opinion, that though much of his life had passed in political contention, he was accompanied to the grave by the sincere and unqualified regret of his Sovereign and his Country.

GUNTON.

The old church was pulled down by the Harbords, who, not satisfied with wrecking Thorp Market, built, immediately adjoining their seat, a mausoleum-like edifice, which is unworthy of notice, and, I understand, contains no monuments.

Blomefield quotes Regr. Johnson, fo. 47, and Regr. Heydon, to prove that in 1374 the church was dedicated to St. Peter, and in 1509 referred to as St. Andrew.

In 1509 Thos. Martyn, gent., was buried here (Bl.)

Blomefield gives the following inscriptions and arms :—

KNAPTON.

The church, which is an extremely fine edifice, is in a most shocking state, the tower end especially more resembling a pig-stye than a place of worship. The walls are rotting with the wet, which has saturated them, and are covered with green slime and filth. The roof is a very fine one, said to have been that intended for a foreign cathedral; the ship carrying which was wrecked near here—a most unlikely tale. The shields of arms on it are:—1. Arg. a saltier gu. (Neville?). 2. Gu. a cross (Latimer). 3. Arg. a cross gu. 4. Gu. a cross engrailed arg. 5. Arg. a bend gu. 6. Arg. a cross gu. 7. Quarterly gu. and or impaling arg. a bend gu.

There is an old Jacobean carved communion table, and a pulpit and canopy of the same date.

The wings of the angels have been lately used as marks by the little boys of the parish to throw at, and many of them are smashed.

The piscina is very handsome; and the roodscreen, which is unpainted, good. The west window seems to have had an earlier window (now blocked up) above it. Much of the interior of the church is covered with high "cattle pen" pews; three poppy-head benches only remaining. There is a large octagonal font standing on steps and supported by one centre and seven circular pillars.

No doubt there was once a fine font cover, the place in the roof whence it hung still remaining; but the present cover is a comparatively modern abomination bearing this: Ao. D'ni 1704 NIYON ANOMHMA ME MONAN.

There are two old coffin stones with good ornamentation.

The south chancel porch has an almost circular arch, over which is a mullet of five points.

The inscriptions are as follows—

On the Floor:—

1. To the memory of Thomas Drake who departed this life the 25th of April 1734 in the 39th year of his age.

2. Here lyeth the body of Richard Flight gent. who departed this life the 24th day of November 1687 in the 29th yeare of his age.

OVERSTRAND.

The church is now roofless and overgrown with ivy, and consists of a square flint battlemented tower (in very fair preservation), a nave and chancel, north porch, and rood turret. There are the slabs of what must have been two splendid brasses.* Comparatively recently the nave was divided into two by a wall, in which a quasi east window was made, over the arch of which is the inscription: "Joseph Howes Churchwarden 1765." The west end of the nave seems to have been used for divine service, while the east was left unroofed. The east end is now neatly turfed, and used as a burial place for the Buxton family, a flat slab bearing the inscription:—

1. In the vault beneath are interred John Henry Buxton 1830, Sarah Maria Buxton 1839, Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton Bart. 1815, Anna Gurney 1857, Hannah Buxton 1872. "More than conquerors through him that loved us."

On another Slab is this:—

2. Priscilla Johnston 1852 aged 44 and Andrew Johnston 1862 aged 64.

On a Slab in the Chancel Ruins is this:—

3. Beneath this stone lies Inter'd the remains of Joseph Howes who departed this life the 17th of July 1835 aged 69 years also of Elizabeth his wife who departed this life the 2nd of March 1849 aged 72 years.

* In the nave is one bearing the impresses of a male and a female figure, with four coats of arms at the corners.

On another Slab there:—

4. Lydia the beloved wife of James Howes died August 22nd 1847 aged 34 years.

Against the East Wall of the Chancel is this:—

5. Sacred to the memory of Mary relict of Thomas Jackson of Middleton in this County who departed this life the 7th of May 1833 aged 75 years.

The new church, built in 1867, is a small plain building of flint with stone dressings, consisting of a nave, chancel, bell turret, and south porch. Its only monumental inscriptions are to the honour and glory of the Buxton family and its connections.

I have been, hitherto, unable to find any record of a bad Buxton, but should be most grateful for a reference to such an one, as he would be an immense relief from the monotony of goodness asserted by their tombstones.

6. To the beloved memory of John Henry Buxton 3rd son of Thomas Fowell Buxton and Hannah Buxton who died Novr. xviii MDCCCXXX aged xvi years and vii months.* Also in remembrance of 5 other children fondly beloved long and sorely lamented. Susanna Maria died Nov. 14 1811 aged 7 months. Thomas Fowell died March 28th 1820 aged 10 years. Hannah died April 17th 1820 aged 1 year. Rachel Gurney died April 27 1820 aged 4 years. Louisa Gurney died May 1st 1820 aged 3 years.

7. In memory of Charles Buxton M.P. of Fox Warren Surrey youngest son of the first Sir T. Fowell Buxton Bart. died 10th August 1871 aged 48 years. "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us."

8.† To the memory of Sir Edward North Buxton Bart. M.P. who died 11 June 1858 aged 45. To the rich inheritance of a sound judgment with a tender heart were added the sanctifying adornment of the grace of God. In public as in private life he walked with God. His first desire was to be found in Christ and in that blessed hope he died.

9. To the memory of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton Bart. born April 1st 1786. Entrusted with many talents he made the welfare of mankind specially that of the negro race the chief object of his life. Blessed with signal success he gave God the glory and full of love and thankfulness died in single reliance on the merits of his Redeemer February 19 1845 aged 58. Also in memory of Hannah widow of Sir T. F. Buxton Bart. died March 20 1872 aged 88. "Ever with the Lord."

* Here follow sixteen lines of eulogistic rhymes, but I do not propose to waste space by printing them.

† The Buxton arms and supporters (sic!) are above this, but as they are cut on white marble and stand in a bad light, I could not make them out.

10. Within the adjoining ruins lie the remains of Priscilla wife of Andrew Johnston of Halesworth Esq. and eldest daughter of Sir T. Fowell Buxton Bart. Of a kindred spirit to her father and gifted with a like energy of mind she largely shared his labours and his sympathies in the cause of the negro. In her life and in her death she was the Lord's servant in love she lived to do his will in the faithful discharge of each domestic and social duty. With her faith in Christ unclouded she died on the 18th June 1852 in the 45 year of her age.

On a little Brass under the West Window:—

11. To the glory of God in memory of Andrew and Priscilla Johnston given by their eldest son A.D. MDCCCLXVII.

12. In memory of Andrew Johnston of Bolton and Halesworth died August 24th 1862 aged 64. "We which have believed do enter into rest."

13. To the beloved memory of Sarah Maria Buxton of North Repps Cottage sister to Sir T. Fowell Buxton Bart. who died whilst on a journey at Clifton Aug. 18 1839 aged 50 years and was buried in the adjacent vault.

This tablet was inscribed by her sorrowing relative and partner Anna Gurney.*

Also of Ann Gurney. They were partners and chosen sisters knit together in the love of God and heirs together of eternal life through Christ Jesus.

14. In memory of Richenda wife of Philip Hamond Esq. and younger daughter of the late Sir T. Fowell Buxton Bart. She died at North Repps Hall June 15th 1858 aged 38 and was interred the same day as her brother Sir Edward N. Buxton. "With the Lord there is mercy and with him there is plenteous redemption."

15. [Arg. a cross engrailed gu.] Anna Gurney born December 31st 1795 died June 6th 1857 in the 62nd year of her age.

The following Inscription is also in the New Church:—

The School-house called the Belfry School in the parish of Overstrand was built in the year 1830 by Sarah Maria Buxton on land belonging to R. H. Gurney Esq. which premises being conveyed to Anna Gurney were by her secured to the use of the said parish under the direction of Trustees according to the original intention of the founder.

Blomefield† mentions these inscriptions, now all gone:—

16. Orate p' aiabz Will'i Worde et Isabelle uxoris ejus qui obt' iij Julij 1455.

* Here follow twenty-six lines of eulogistic rhymes, with which I will not trouble my readers.

† These are also given in Le Neve's Collections, whence no doubt Blomefield had them.

17. .... Johis Reymes armigeri .... Dni' Regis Henrici quarti et Marg'te filie Will'i Wynter .... sepulti fuer' in Ao. Sept. Henrici Quarti.

18. [Painted on the screen.] Orate p' aiabz Joh's Amy et Agnetis uxor' sue et p' quibz teneamur.

19. [In the north aisle.] Orate p' aia' Rob'ti Reymes qui obijt 8 Julij 1408.

NORTH REPPS.

The church is built of flint and stone, with a square battlemented tower having four pinnacles, a three-light Perpendicular window, and a sound hole. The size of the tower staircase, which stands out from quite half the south side of the tower, is very noticeable. The font is octagonal, and in one aisle are the remains of a chapel, the window having been cut away to make room for the altar, and there is a small single piscina. In the chancel is an arched recess for a tomb. The south-west window of the chancel is late Perpendicular with transom. The screen is now gone. Comparatively recently it bore the inscription: ". . . . . Johis Playford et Cu'stancie ux ejꝰ et p' oibꝫ bn'factoribꝫ suis."

The Inscriptions are as follows:—

1. Here Lyeth the Body of John Morse who died Novem. the 3rd 1723 aged 52 and also Elizabeth his Daughter.

There is a new three-light Chancel Window with this Inscription:—

16. To the glory of God and in pious memory of the Revd. Patrick Comerford Law for 39 years rector of Northrepps and rural dean who died April 15 1869 aged 71. Also of Frances his wife who died Nov. 19 1857 aged 52. This window is dedicated by their family and inhabitants of the parish.

Blomefeld also mentions the following, both now gone:—

17. Orate p' a'iabz Rob't Ward et Marthe uxor 1463.

18. Orate p' &c. Robert Sley 1482. [This no doubt is No. 3. Miss Fry's notes have it Sley also, but L'Estrange's and mine make it Grey, and the name of Grey twice occurs on the Subsidy Roll here for 14 Henry VIII.

* Much of this is obstructed by rubbish.

On the Screen, now also gone:—

19. Orate p', &c., Joh's Playford et Kathar* uxor et p' omnib̄z benefactorib̄z suis.

Miss Fry's collections (p. 162) made May 1851 also have:—

20. . . . Willi Keye et Margareti et Margareti ux'is sue. But I think this is a misreading for Wm. Keye who occurs on the Subsidy Roll here for 14 Henry VIII.

SOUTH REPPS.

The church is a fine one, and the nave and chancel have been excellently restored; the new east window (Decorated) being especially good. The tower is of flint and stone, and embattled, round the base being a course of arcaded flint and stone pannelling, and above it a course of heater-shaped shields alternately with scallop shells. The west door of the tower is old and much decayed, but shows the ornamentation. There are two empty niches, one on either side as at Cromer, very handsomely carved. In the spandrils are two shields: one, with a cross, reed with sponge, and spear; and two, quarterly 1 and 4, 3 fleur-de-lis 2 and 1, 2 and 3; 3 lions passant guardant. It has been twice struck with lightning.

The nave roof was originally much higher than it is now. There were originally side aisles, now gone. In the south wall of the chancel is a deeply-splayed recess, with a piece of stained glass (an angel) which was once in the aisle. There is a fine oak rood-screen, painted red, with black roses and green, with a crowned ℳℳ alternately. The sedilia and double piscina are Decorated and very handsome; and there is a low recess by the altar to hold the paten. The font is octangular. Within the church is an inscription: "The old church taken down and this erected in the year of our Lord 1791. Robert Ellis and John Baker churchwardens." There is a square ugly new north vestry recently built out.

SIDESTRAND.

The church, dedicated to St. Michael, stood on the edge of the cliff, and was very unnecessarily pulled down early in 1881.

The following description was written the previous year:—

This church, the circular tower of which has lost its upper part, stands on the edge of the cliff. The east and south windows of its chancel are blocked up. There is a small recess in the east wall of the chancel, and a small piscina on its south wall. In the south-east wall of the nave are the traces of a large irregularly-shaped recess, probably for the Easter sepulchre. The nave is lit by four early Perpendicular windows (about 1400). The tower arch is closed up. All the old monuments, if any, are gone, the church having been repaved with the accursed square tile. There is a rather good south porch.

East window of chancel half blocked up in top; an old stone image in attitude of prayer inserted.

All the monuments are in the chancel, and are all to one family:—

1. In memory of Charles Smith Cubitt who died July 16th 1827 aged 20 years.

2. In memory of John Joseph Cubitt who died Sept. 25th 1824 aged 24 years.

3. In memory of Sarah Anne Cubitt who died the 4th of Decbr. 1812 aged 3 years.

4. ..... the remains of Joseph Samuel Cubitt fifth son of the late Rev. John Cubitt who departed this life Feby. 2nd 1843 in the 32nd year of his age.

5. In memory of Joseph S. Cubitt of the City of Norwich merchant fifth son of the late Rev. John Cubitt who died in the 32nd year of his age February 2nd 1843.

TRIMINGHAM.

The church is of flint with stone dressings. The south door has a niche above it for an image. Within, the thing most worth notice is the rood-screen, which is in eight panels, thus described by the late Mr. J. L'Estrange:—

Screen, four figures on each side:—

1. St. Edmund, crowned, arrow and sceptre, green robe and ermine tippet.

2. Nun with book in left and remonstrance (?) in right hand [St. Clare, abbess.—Hus. 38.]

3. A bishop with double cross staff in left, right hand raised, green cope, red dalmatic and alb, [St. Clement, P. M.] in benediction, shows sleeve of dalmatic, anchor at foot.

4. (?) St. John Baptist. Book in hand, long flowing hair, naked feet; in spandril, St. John's head in charger.

South side:—

1. St. Petronilla, [Hus. 134] a virgin with turban, book in right hand and key in left.

2. St. Cecily, [Hus. 36] virgin, with book in left hand and sprig with red flowers in right.

3. (?) St. Barbara, palm branch in right hand, castle in left. [Mutilated.]

4. Male figure in turban. Long hair, short beard, wearing armour apparently; only feet and hand, rest covered by two garments; hawk and lure in right hand. [This is St. Edward, K.M.—Hus. 52.]

The font is octangular, standing on eight columns. There is a small piscina in the south wall of the nave. The nave is lit by four windows, two on either side, three being of last century tracery, and the fourth of late Perpendicular with square head. The chancel has a small piscina and sedilia, and two late Perpendicular square-headed windows on its south, but none on its north side. The tower arch is supported on its east side by very solid square interior buttresses. Owing to the church having been within the last few years tiled, many monuments are now hidden from sight. Those remaining are as follows:—
